

Cantina di Negrar's Valpolicella Classico Superiore DOMINI VENETI

scritto da Redazione Wine Meridian | 11 Settembre 2024

The most significant and human value of Cantina di Negrar is reflected in its being a cooperative since 1933, having been founded and coordinated by people of strong will and social ideals, which can still be felt today when meeting the 240 members that make up this real entity on the outskirts of Verona.

Cooperation has allowed growth, investment in and for the territory, the creation of new opportunities for future generations, and the enhancement of the entire area's value, including its hospitality and dining capacities.

This ensemble of people and experiences, this microcosm called Cantina di Negrar, has then brought their efforts and qualitative vision to markets all over the world, as in the case of the Valpolicella Classico Superiore from the Domini Veneti line.

A wine that is straightforward and sincere right from its color, an expression of enological innovation for its balance and identity, perhaps the wine that best represents the whole of this territory, as opposed to Amarone, since it is not made from the appassimento (drying) of native grapes, and is certainly one of the most appreciated by local restaurants.

A wine that envelops the nose with pride and substance, full of broad notes of fruit and sweet spices, with a minerality that also emerges on the nose and captivates even the least experienced taster. On the palate, it is savory with excellent acidity, well-balanced in body, and with a long finish that leaves a clear and extremely pleasant memory. What markets can we recommend for a wine of this nature if not all of them, but particularly the Chinese market, where there is great appreciation for well-structured red wines?
