

Colomba Bianca's Rosaline

scritto da Redazione Wine Meridian | 17 Maggio 2025

Colomba Bianca embodies the essence of a vibrant microcosm, the result of a journey toward production excellence that began many years ago. Within this solid Sicilian cooperative, a dynamic movement has flourished, grounded in concrete initiatives that place organic farming and sustainability at the heart of their viticultural approach.

This vision is deeply rooted in history, in a land abundant in beauty and discovery; a story that continues through a mission to bring appreciation for its wines to international markets, with foresight and opportunity for the growers who are part of it.

A wine that embodies this vision is Rosaline, the rosé we tasted today – a wine with captivating, evocative packaging. It is a modern product, yet one with deep, authentic roots, thanks to years of research aimed at enhancing both agronomic and oenological practices.

Rosaline is the very essence of the distinctive flavors of this extraordinary island. It opens vibrantly in the glass with a delicate effervescence that releases broad and fresh aromas of wild red berries, with hints of citrus and floral notes reminiscent of a well-tended garden.

Rosaline's harmony comes full circle on the palate, offering a well-structured minerality and balanced savoriness, with a long, pleasantly persistent finish.

An elegant and thoroughly enjoyable rosé, perfect with light seafood dishes or savory vegetable tarts, and it pairs wonderfully with pasta dishes – ideally made with sun-kissed Sicilian cherry tomatoes.

Colomba Bianca

A project that has its roots in a traditional viticulture that looks to the future and projects it on international markets of quality wines. A common vision where the new generations carry out an oenological design that focuses on the innovation and valorization of the territorial characteristics. In the late 70's, the Sicilian wine has been able to identify an important journey of rebirth. The starting point shared by many was in the land and in the vineyard, in the arms of those who cultivated it, in the family, from one generation to the other. However, an agent of change and perspective was given from a new awareness of the value of the wine in Sicily, and the chance of being able to rely on one's identity and production capabilities, choosing the innovation, the organic and the sustainability.

CANTINE COLOMBA BIANCA SOC. COOP. AGRICOLA

C/da Cartubuleo-Serroni snc, Mazara del Vallo, TP 91026 IT

info@colombabianca.com – +39 0923 942747

www.colombabianca.com

