

Italian wines in the world: DOMENIS1898's Grappa Secolo Barrique Millesimata

scritto da Redazione Wine Meridian | 14 Agosto 2019

Grappa Secolo Barrique Millesimata

Color: yellow

Price: € 45.00

Annual production: about 800 bottles

Denomination: Grappa Riserva Millesimata Barrique

Aging: at least 8 months in stainless steel tanks, after aging for at least 18 months in oak barrels

Grapes: grape marc

DOMENIS1898 is a distillery that, over time, has wanted to convey all its corporate philosophy in its creations, always trying to give the products those characteristics that enhance the efforts made in research and technology, and whose sole objective is to see to grow a sensorial pleasure, never boring, of the great Italian distillate recognized in the world: grappa.

The Italian poet Mario Soldati, calling wine the poetry of the earth, claimed that grappa was his soul; and it is precisely the grappa tasted today, Secolo Barrique Millesimata, which in our opinion expresses the poetic characteristics of a product that contains a sincere and decisive soul in its pleasant complexity. The aging of this grappa for over 18 months makes it possible to have a lightly amber color as only the great raisins of important white grapes can have, because even the clarity that it transmits in the glass testifies to the excellent work of care and refinement. The sense of smell gives us a balanced harmony of noble barriques aromas and leather hints mixed with chestnut honey and some spices enhance the completion that emerges in the mouth in its powerful balance. A grappa, the Secolo Barrique one, which boasts an important gradation, 60 degrees of enveloping harmony that fill the palate with the joy of going through an experience full of that truth that Mario Soldati would suggest as the soul of marc, by him splendidly described.