

Tinazzi's Garda Bianco DOP Ca' de' Rocchi

scritto da Redazione Wine Meridian | 14 Novembre 2025

Tinazzi is a family winery, a family story that, throughout a long journey of commitment and hard work, has successfully maximised the value of every single investment dedicated, step by step, to the construction and development of its estates.

Today, these jewels are beginning to shine with their own light, set as they are in three of Italy's most fascinating production areas: Veneto and specifically the province of Verona – where it all began – then moving south to Tuscany – with the Pian del Gallo estate in Greve – and further down to the sunny province of Taranto, where the majestic San Giorgio winery and Masseria Feudo Croce fully reflect the style of this wine family.

Let us pay tribute to the Veneto region, and specifically the Lake Garda area, birthplace of the Tinazzi family's "Garda Bianco". It is a wine with a strong identity, genuine and absolutely fascinating in its thoroughly contemporary packaging.

This white wine is made predominantly from local varieties but has been expertly blended in the cellar to achieve a beautifully harmonious balance of taste and aroma. Its lively yellow colour shines in the tasting glass, immediately releasing fresh scents of white hillside flowers, notes of orange blossom and grapefruit, and a light hint of exotic fruit that completes the bouquet.

On the palate, it is, in a word, thrilling! Savoury, mineral, and with perfect acidity. A long and enveloping finish.

A modern white wine backed by a solid history, a story of family and hard work; a true example for those who want to discover the charm of things done well. Compliments on this Garda Bianco, with the hope that you will continue to give us true wine emotions.
